A Visit to Ocean Park

Activity Goal

1. Learn about marine ecosystems, physical characteristics, and habits
2. Learn basic knowledge about marine conservation and animal welfare
3. Cultivate an attitude of loving animals and respecting life

Activity Introduction

By visiting the ocean park, children can step out of the classroom and learn about various marine and land animals. Through observation, listening to the guide's explanations, and participatins games, they learn about the living habits of different marine creatures and animals, and come to appreciate the wonder and diversity of nature. At the same time, these experiential activities help them develop a love for animals, respect for life, and a commitment to protecting marine ecosystems, thereby broadening their horizons.
