Event Name

A Visit to the Hong Kong Wetland Park

Activity Goal

1. To help children understand the characteristics and habits of animals
2. To enable children to identify the colours, species, and sizes of animals
3. To teach children to cherish and protect nature
4. To foster an appreciative attitude toward nature

Activity Introduction

Before departure, the teacher explained the rules to the children that they should follow when visiting the Hong Kong Wetland Park. Upon arrival, the children first observed the living habits of the saltwater crocodile 'Pui Pui', while also learning about the features and habitats of various plants and animals in the Wetland Reserve, such as birds, insects, and aquatic plants. Along the way, the children appreciated and learned about the biodiversity of the local wetlands, including mangroves and mudflats.
